Charges by an investigating committee of the American Legion that the Manhattan State Hospital, on Ward's lalland, is making a profit of approximately $200 a day through the treatment of 200 insane soldier veterans were admitted yesterday by Dr. M. B. Heyman, superintendent of the institution. Further charges that the Manhattan Hospital at an approximate cost of $1 a day, although the state is allowed $2 a day by the government for their care, were also admitted as true by Dr. Heyman.

According to a statement made yesterday by Mr. Felbel, the basket of candy, which was won at a bazar for the benefit of the wounded soldiers, was taken by himself to the institution on May 19. An employee, Mr. Felbel declared, took the basket of candy and card bearing the inscription "For the disabled soldier boys" and promised to deliver it.

After ascertaining that the candy had not reached the disabled soldiers Mr. Felbel took the matter up with Dr. W. D. Heaton, executive officer at the hospital, and an investigation followed. On June 7 Mr. Felbel received a communication from Dr. Heaton, in which it was stated that an investigation conducted under his personal guidance had failed to throw any light on the matter.

ler Commission

The Board of Estimate, at its meeting yesterday, pursuant to a suggestion by Corporation Counsel O'Brien adopted a resolution to pay the 105 employees of the new Transit Commission who were transferred from the old Public Service Commission. The action of the board was taken pending the decision of the courts on the constitutionality of the act of the Legislature creating the Transit Commission. If the courts decide the new transit law is unconstitutional, the state will be requested to reimburse the city for the money expended.

The 105 employees have not been paid since the new commission took office, April 26. Comptroller Craig refused to honor the pay rolls of the new commission in respect to these employees, and gave it as his opinion that the employees should be paid out of state funds and not by the city. Mandamus proceedings brought by the Transit Commission to compel the Comptroller to pay the employees are still pending in the Supreme Court.

Maine Forests Still Burning AUGUSTA, Maine, June 10.—Forest fires still burning on a large scale in several places to-day have swept over 20,000 acres in the last month, the state forestry commission announced. The damage has aggregated $200,000. Reports to the commission indicated that the situation had improved, although rain was badly needed.
